Do you or someone you care for have a long-term condition?

Learn how to represent yourself and others with the European Patient Ambassador Programme.

Healthcare professionals and researchers need to understand the experiences of patients and their carers to improve treatment and care.

EPAP is a free, online course that introduces patients and carers to the skills they need to represent themselves and others in research, guideline development and the media.

“ I think EPAP is a great way to be introduced to patient involvement. I became interested in the role that patients can play in the health process and, for me, it was a very positive thing that you can make your views count.

If there wasn't a programme like EPAP, I am not sure I would have told my story. I would encourage everyone who considers registering for EPAP to do so.
